Dear Professor Stemplowski,

I am sorry to hear that Giles Coren's article has caused such distress. You may be interested in the letters that we published on this subject this morning, including one from your successor. In case you are not an online subscriber, I am copying them at the bottom of this letter. (I realise that, since you have been looking at our Archive, you probably are, but just to be on the safe side ...) You are, of course, quite right that if the boot was on the other foot the opportunities for parodying Britons attempting to speak Polish would be infinitely greater.

We very much appreciate you getting in touch with us.

Thank you for writing.

With best wishes,

Rose Wild,

Feedback editor,

The Times.
